Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because it contains an embedded hyperlink and/or other form of browser-executable code. See page 4, line 25; page 5, line 2; page 11, line 1; page 16, lines 6-7. Applicant is required to delete the embedded hyperlink and/or other form of browser-executable code. See MPEP § 608.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claims 1 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Clapper (US 2002/0080941 A1).

Regarding claim 1, Clapper discloses a communication apparatus (message card 100) comprising:

a substrate (card surface);

machine readable data (card includes a magnetic stripe or a semi-conductor memory device including one or more programmed messages and a programmed destination specifier such as a phone number; paragraphs 33 and 34); and human readable data (the message or messages can be printed on the face of the card; paragraph 36).

Regarding claim 6, the calling phone is reconfigured by the message card in that certain features of the calling phone are disabled (paragraph 32) and a programmed destination phone is dialed (paragraph 34).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2-5, 7-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Clapper in view of Kim (US 6,269,158 B1).

Clapper differs from claims 2-5, 7-9 in that it does not specify including directions for use. However, Kim teaches the desirability of including printed instructions for use on a phone card (see Figure 2-D; col. 4, lines 10-13) such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to incorporate such printed instructions, as taught by Kim, upon the message card of Clapper so that a user can be informed as to how to send a stored message using the message card.

Regarding claim 10, caller ID information can be transmitted (paragraph 30).

Regarding claims 11-13, 15-19, Clapper allows the user to customize the data being stored in the database as well as in the message card (paragraphs 26 through 36).

6. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Clapper in view of Kim, as applied to claim 13 above, and further in view of Berger et al. (US 6,112,986, hereinafter "Berger").

The combination of Clapper and Kim differs from claim 14 in that it does not specify the message card as being pierced. However, Berger teaches that it is well known to include a hole on a message-bearing card in order to receive a chain for suspending the card in a secure fashion (col. 7, lines 32-45) such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to incorporate a hole, as taught by Berger, within the message card of Clapper and Kim in order to physically secure the card.

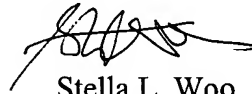

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Weiss and Sato show other systems which use cards to transmit messages. Yacoob shows a smart card which stores warranty/insurance information.
